I never cared for ATAR. It is just a number.

I know people who don't even remember their ATAR after three years.

I took the SACE option. Like ATAR though, it doesn't need to be the 'be-all and end-all'. I have already done two courses and got a part time job with SA Health. There are other pathways.

There was always pressure on us at school. I got a good ATAR but in the end I don't really care about it.

I am not going to let it decide what I am going to do. Now I am going to take some time off to travel and work it out for myself.
